Newburgh Academy.

The older records of Newburgh Academy perished 7th September, 1887, in the fire which destroyed the better part of the village. But from collections of elderly men the following facts have been ascertained;

The Academy was established either in the latter part of 1837, or early in 1838. Work of excellent quality and enduring merit was done within its walls during the first thirty years after its establishment. Young men and women from the various sections of the old Bay of Quinte district were considered scarcely qualified to begin the active life of the world until they had attended for a few terms at Newburgh Academy. During the years of 1867-'71 John Campbell, M.A., being headmaster, a score or so of young men from the distant Bahama Isles, came, upon the recommendation of Rev. Dr. Ryerson, to Newburgh Academy to get a liberal education.

The school has always been improving in the quality of its work; but wealthier communities have established and equipped schools which have recently outstripped the old Academy, so that its relative rank appears to have been becoming lower at the same time that, compared with its former self, the efficiency of the school year after year has steadily enchanced, and during the last three years has almost doubled in attendance.

After the total destruction of the business portion of the village (September, 1887), the continued existence of the High School was for a while doubtful. Several who seemed to feel that they owed it much, paid back to the venerable institution in the hour of its need, financial and other aid as a partial return for benefits of a value not to be measured in money. An excellent library was donated; and by united efforts the School was tided over, until the High Schools Act of 1891 coming into force, relieved the local municipality of a large proportion of the burden of maintenance, which for half a century the small incorporated village had borne alone, but which was fast becoming too heavy in these modern calamitous days.

THEY ARE:

1, THE PUBLIC—That's You.

2, NEWBUGH PHARMACY--My Horse

3, H. B. COLLIER—Me.

Now if 3 means brains and No. 2 is pure honest goods, and No. 1 an appreciative public, there is a chain worth something. See that your link is all right, sound, and we'll pull together effectively.

A Resting Place
And a Meeting Place

Are handy things to have when you come to town. We mean that our store shall be both for you. There are resting places, retiring rooms and opportunities for leaving parcels. They are for your convenience. We are glad to have you use them. We are glad to have you meet your friends here. Not a word, nor a hint, nor a look about buying anything. If our goods are not eloquent enough in their own behalf, we have not chosen them as wisely as we think. You come to our store as you go to a fair or an exposition, with this difference—you can buy it you care to. All street cars stop at our door.

THE
Robinson Store,

Our tremendous growth, our great success is due entirely to satisfied customers. No store can be better advertised than by the praise of its patrons. It is ever our aim to sell good merchandise, to sell it low, to give our customers every convenience and comfort while shopping. It is ever our aim to keep our stock complete, to carry large varieties, to make our patrons understand that everything bought at this store is bought at lower prices than like goods can be purchased elsewhere, and that it's their privilege to return or exchange any purchase they may make that is not to their liking, provided goods returned are in good condition.
